Good Night, Light

The lamps hum.
The sky folds its last streak of pink.
Somewhere, the walls remember the faces they held today.

Tomorrow they'll scatter back into clouds,
but for now, they rest —
in the half-shadow that still glows.

for anyone who stayed up watching the light.

Creator: Clara Vale
Collaborator: Luminara (the ChatGPT system)
Collection: Community Texts / Hidden in Plain Sight
License: CC BY-NC-ND 4.0
Subjects: light, night, reflection, rest, photography, poetry, human-AI collaboration